

1.01 Activity 3

Scenario/Example-Matching Activity

Directions: Read each statement and select the term that best matches the scenario example.

State Constitution-Sovereignty
Common law
Rule Based Ethical Reasoning
U.S. Constitution
The Golden Rule

Greatest Good
Case Law
Consequential Ethical Reasoning
Statutory Law
Ethics

1. Not crossing a street while the light is red, even though no cars are coming, because that would be jaywalking is an example of_____.
2. During the 1960's, all school age children were required by the government to have the Polio preventative vaccine administered to them. This is an example of_____.
3. States may generally legislate on all matters within their territorial jurisdiction with the exception of foreign interstate commerce. This is an example of_____.
4. In order to save costs and increase profits which may increase wages, a local leather tanning business has decided to lower its environmental standards to lawfully start discharging some of their manufacturing waste into a local stream. This is an example of_____.
5. The U. S. Congress and the President, passed and sign into law that all U. S. citizens must have healthcare insurance. This is an example of_____.
6. A judge decides a case based on their own common sense as well as to the facts before them. This is known as_____.
7. You reason that no one will know if as a police officer you are secretly smoking in uniform and while on duty which is against your employer's written policy. This is an example of_____.
8. One of your co-workers that is not well liked at your company, ask you for a ride home from work. You say yes to their request. This is an example of_____.
9. A citizen has his vehicle searched by local police against his will and without permission or a warrant. This is a violation of_____.
10. A judge refers to a previous case/court ruling in reference to a previously appealed case. This is an example of_____.